Industry Opinion

According to the International Organization for Standardization, as of 2016, the total number of organizations complying with Quality Management System exceeded two million!

We can proudly say that the series of international management have helped usher quality into many organizations. We believe that the value of International Management varies between companies. If you work for an organisation that is very mature in terms of quality, where you have standardized best practice, then Management System deployment will be much easier to attain but of much less real benefit. The opposite also applies.

International Management standard offers a wide variety of benefits to an organization. The quality standard is applicable to companies of any size or sector who is seeking to improve their internal management and operational processes.

Hence, the industry opinion about the benefits of the International Management are numerous & few of them are listed below:

- It enhances customer satisfaction and improved customer loyalty leading to repeat business.
- It increases revenue and market share obtained through flexible and fast responses to market opportunities.
- It provides integration and alignment of internal processes which leads to increased productivity and results.
- It enhances business performance and better cost management.
- It provides confidence to interested parties as to the consistency, effectiveness and efficiency of the organization.
- It increases credibility and competitiveness in the market.
- It gives the consistency in the delivery of your product or service.
- It provides lower costs and shorter cycle times through effective use of resources.
- It improves communication, planning and administration processes.

Hence International Management gives benefit to company at various level of internal and external process. That's why the need International Management Professionals.

Projects

The major objective of the project STARTUP is to make our students professionally ready and also, give them a glimpse of challenges a professional faces to enable them become a skilled professional.

And keeping this objective in mind we have designed our projects totally practical. Thus, our students need not to worry about submitting any project file etc. Moreover, we will guide our students throughout the project.

The major highlight of the project STARTUP is that, we will reward our best student with INR ONE LAC. So, that students stay motivated towards the learning.
